

FOREST McNARY KILLED BY HORSE LATE MONDAY

WAS PROMINENT FARMER OF MARION TOWNSHIP THROUGH-OUT HIS LIFE

FUNERAL TO BE WEDNESDAY

Mr. McNary Had Attempted To Aid
In Unhitching Young Horse
Which Reared On Him

Forest McNary, one of the best known farmers in Putnam county was instantly killed late Monday evening when a horse he was unhitching from a wagon, kicked him and probably stepped on his head, crushing it badly. Some believed the horse kicked him and then he fell, was run over by the steel tired wagon, but from the badly mangled condition of the head, Mr. Reed, who prepared the body for burial, was inclined to think the horse stepped on him after kicking him.

A young man, employed on the McNary farm had spent the day in the field and when he returned, Mr. McNary went to the barn to help him put the team away. Before they were entirely unhitched, something happened and the horses started to run, and in the mix-up, Mr. McNary was killed. It was said he died instantly.

One of the horses in the tragedy was said to have been a young one, and this animal caused the trouble. It was said he reared up as he was being unhitched and it was thought he might have struck Mr. McNary on the head as he came down. He suffered a badly mangled place on the top of his head. The other crushed places might have come from being trampled on.

Deceased was about 56 years of age and had lived his entire life in Putnam county. He spent all his married life on the farm on which he died. He was born and reared west of Fillmore a short distance. He is survived by the widow, two sons, Harold, county agent of Pulaski county, and Marion of Indianapolis. One brother, Fred McNary, also survives.

Mr. McNary was one of the scientific and successful farmers of Putnam county. His home was a model place, being situated on the National road a short distance east of Mt. Meridian. Mr. McNary took an active interest in the Putnam county farm bureau and worked for the interest of his fellow farmers throughout the existence of the farm bureau organization.

The funeral will be held at two o'clock Wednesday afternoon from the Christian church in Fillmore, with burial in the Fillmore cemetery. The funeral services will be in charge of the Rev. W. H. Newlin.

Pastors Attack Endurance Tests

CRAWFORDSVILLE MINISTERS
ADOPT RESOLUTION CON-
DEMNING CONTESTS

CRAWFORDSVILLE, July 29 (UP)—Voting unanimously in favor of a resolution condemning the present endurance contests being conducted by the youths of the city, Crawfordville churches took the first official step toward the abolition of the present craze at the second of six mid-summer union services.

The resolution, introduced by the Rev. Guy O. Carpenter of the First M. E. church, reads as follows:

Resolved: That we, the Christian people of Crawfordville disapprove of the exploitation of children by adults in the present endurance contests. We disapprove of such and urge our Crawfordville papers cease publishing accounts of the present contests, and urge discontinuance of such.

After the introduction of the resolution at the Sunday night services, which were held at the Wabash Avenue Presbyterian church, the congregation was asked to vote on the matter. The resolution was passed unanimously.

In discussing the resolution Rev. Carpenter said that he considered the whole proposition of allowing adults to exploit children for their own gain unlawful.

"Why, if I were to take a horse," the minister said, "and advertise that I would run him around the streets of the city until he dropped dead, I would be arrested immediately."

"To allow any adult to have these children, practically all of them under age, to ride bicycles or sit in trees and on porches until their physical well-being is endangered, is not only unlawful but dangerous," Rev. Carpenter continued.

STORES REPORTED SOLD

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., July 29.—Reports that the Oakley Economy Stores, located in several cities throughout the Wabash Valley, had been sold to the Kroger Grocery and Baking Co., were emphatically denied by H. N. Oakley, president and owner of the stores.

Ray Babb, superintendent of the Indianapolis branch of the Kroger company, in conference with Oakley at Terre Haute, said no moves had been made by his company to purchase the Oakley stores.

TEMPERATURE MUCH BETTER

There was a decided drop in the temperature over Indiana today as compared to Monday, and the minimum during the night was about 60, whereas it started yesterday morning with an 80 to 85.

However, the lower temperatures did not bring rain and no relief from the drouth is now in sight.

SCHOOL BOARD TO REORGANIZE FRIDAY NIGHT

OLD BOARD HOLDS LAST MEET-
ING MONDAY NIGHT, GO
OVER BUDGET

Reorganization of the Greencastle School Board will take place at a special called meeting Friday evening at 8 o'clock, it was announced Tuesday. At the special meeting Dr. C. R. O'Brien, newly elected member, who will succeed Dr. C. C. Tucker, will take his place as a member of the organization.

At a meeting of the old Board Monday evening, work of the board was finished up as near as possible. Other matters, including the hiring of new teachers to fill vacancies in the teaching staff for next year, and discussion of the budget for next year, also were taken up.

Teaching positions yet to fill are art, mathematics and agriculture in the high school, and one vacancy in the grade schools. Guy Harris, of Reelsville, a Purdue University student, was employed Monday night as a temporary agriculture teacher to accompany local 4-H Club members to the district club camp at Merom, August 4, 5, and 6, in place of M. M. Bassett, resigned agriculture teacher. Mr. Harris will only be employed for the period of the club camp, however, inasmuch as he has another year at Purdue University.

The tentative budget, as prepared Monday night, calls for a reduction of $2,300 in school expenses for next year. This would mean a reduced levy for school purposes if this budget is finally adopted.

Dr. O'Brien, new member of the Board, met with the School Board Monday night, to get acquainted with his duties as a board member. Present members of the board are Dr. Tucker; Trustee, Paul Albin, and Elvin Harlan.

FAIR BOARD MEETING

An important meeting of the Putnam County Fair board will be held in the County Agent's office Thursday evening. Members of the Fair Board hope to have a good representation from all sections of the county present. Each department head is expected to report on the progress of plans for their department. Present indications are that the Junior Fair this year will be a splendid success. A bigger industrial display is planned to offset the smaller exhibit of livestock.

William Wetz Fruit Store Is Closed

OWNER OF FRUIT ESTABLISH-MENT PLANS TO OPERATE
A TRUCKING BUSINESS

The Wetz fruit store on Jackson street, opened recently by William Wetz in the Walter Heath building, was closed Tuesday.

It was said lack of business due to the fact that local people raised their own garden products at this time of year, caused Mr. Wetz to decide to close the store for the present. He was not certain Tuesday whether he would reopen the store later or not.

Mr. Wetz will enter the trucking business, he said.

GOOD CROPS DEPEND ON A BIG RAIN

DAMAGE FROM DROUGHT NOT YET SO GREAT AS IN SOUTH-ERN COUNTIES

CORN WOULD RALLY WITH RAIN

Pastures, gardens and Truck Patches
Suffer From Lack of Moisture

Putnam county corn crops as yet have not been greatly damaged by lack of rain, County Agent Floyd Miller estimated Tuesday. An immediate heavy rain would result in a fair corn crop here, he stated.

Continuance of the present hot, dry weather, results in increasing damage each day, he stated. In Vigo county a conservative estimate of the damage done to corn by lack of rain is 50 per cent. In counties further south the damage is still greater. In some southern counties of the state, no rain has fallen for three months. Several southern cities have been threatened with lack of drinking water and have prohibited the sprinkling of lawns and gardens. Bloomington is the latest city to prohibit sprinkling.

In Putnam county corn in the northern part of the county is in better shape than in the south part. Two or three brief showers have helped the crops in the north section.

Garden and truck crops have been stunted and delayed by the lack of rain, especially tomatoes. Pastures are practically ruined and other farm crops, such as soy beans, have suffered badly.

SCORES TWO ROUND KNOCKOUT

LONDON, July 29 (UP)—Young Stribling of Georgia loomed up on the fistie horizon today to dispute Max Schmeling's claim to the world's heavyweight championship after scoring a two round knockout over Phil Scott at Wimbledon Stadium last night before a crowd of 45,000, estimated as the largest ever to see a glove contest in England.

Vicious left hooks to the body sounded the death knell for Phil Scott's ring career and elevated Stribling to the highest position the Georgian has known since he was defeated by Jack Sharkey two years ago.

Legion Men Met At Russellville

IDEA OF HOLDING MEETINGS
OVER COUNTY PROVING QUITE SUCCESSFUL

The Greencastle Post of the American Legion held a very successful meeting at Russellville Monday night. There was a good attendance and everyone present reported a very enjoyable evening.

In order to create a closer feeling of comradeship among its members and to stimulate the interest in the activities among its members and to stimulate the interest in the activities of the post it was decided at the last meeting to hold regular meetings at the various towns of the county as well as at Greencastle. The warm reception and the good attendance of the Russellville veterans indicates that the idea meets with the approval of all.

The next meeting will be held at Bainbridge Aug. 11 and from early reports there will be a large delegation of local veterans attend this meeting. Delegates to the state convention at Ft. Wayne Aug. 25, 26, 27, were elected, and the following men were selected by the Post: L. W. Crump, of Greencastle; D. A. Flock of Russellville and O. L. Vanclave of Bainbridge as delegates and Wilbur Donner of Greencastle and Earl Etcheson of Roachdale as alternates.

Plans were made to secure the Sutherland Springs near Russellville to hold the Legion picnic some time in August. This is an ideal place and pretty centrally located for the northern part of the county.

To get a check up on the unemployment condition among the ex-service men of Putnam county, cards were mailed to various localities to secure a list of all veterans out of work, all but a few of these cards have been answered and to date not one single case of unemployment has been reported. This speaks well not only for the county but for the ex-service men as well.

Next meeting at Bainbridge, Aug. 11.

FRY BACON ON TRACKS OF RAILROAD AT SPENCER

Carl Esakson, local manager of the Kroger store, demonstrated shortly after noon just how hot it really was. Many times stories of cooking eggs in the sand, heated by the sun, or other such stunts have been reported, but today Mr. Esakson laid a couple of strips of bacon on the railroad tracks passing through Spencer. The two pieces of bacon immediately started curling up and the grease frying out. There was no bubbling of the grease but the bacon was still cooking at press time with every indication of being done some time before sundown. — Spencer World.

DAMAGE IS DONE BY THE POTATO BUG

BLISTER BEETLE CAN BE CON-TROLLED BY CHEMICAL APPLICATION

As a result of reports that the old-fashioned potato bug or beetle had been doing considerable damage in Putnam County, Floyd Miller, county agent, has advised methods of controlling this garden and farm pest.

In a communication from J. J. Davis, chief in entomology, of Purdue University, the county agent has been informed that excellent control of the old-fashioned potato beetle has been secured by dusting with sodium fluosilicate, either pure or diluted with equal parts of hydrated lime or flour. This material can be obtained on the local market or from the Louisville Chemical Company, Louisville, Ky.

Experiments conducted recently have given excellent results from the use of two materials that probably are on the local market. One is Evergreen, a pyrethrum spray which should be applied as a liquid and diluted according to directions on the container. The other is barium fluosilicate, which is on the market under the name Dutox. This latter material is applied as a dust.

INVESTIGATE MINE BURNING

CLINTON, Ind., July 29 (UP)—Three investigations were being conducted today into the burning of the shaft and tipples of the Bono coal mine at Dana, last week, in which damage estimated at $40,000 was incurred. No report concerning the identity of the five men who set the blaze was forthcoming.

A representative of the state fire marshal's office arrived at the scene yesterday and representatives of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, on which the men burned three carloads of coal, and the Binkley Coal company, to whom the mine belonged, were already at work investigating.

MATCH CAUSES DAMAGE

BRAZIL, Ind., July 29 (UP)—Slight damage was caused in the basement of the home of E. C. Lloyd, Brazil, when an employee of the Indiana Gas Utilities Company used a lighted match to search for a leak in the pipes at the home. Windows were broken by the impact of the explosion.

PUTNAM HOME DESTROYED BY FIRE SUNDAY

ELMER SHANNON RESIDENCE
NEAR RUSSELLVILLE RAZED
WITH LOSS OF $7,000

RUSSELLVILLE, July 29—Fire of undetermined origin leveled the Elmer Shannon home, three miles east of here, at 4 o'clock Sunday morning. Only a few pieces of furniture were saved from the blaze, which caused a damage of approximately $7,000.

All the members of the Shannon family were in bed asleep when the fire broke out, and were scarcely able to escape from the flaming house before the roof collapsed. An attempt was made to summon neighbors to form a bucket brigade to check the blaze, but the house was totally destroyed before anything could be done.

It is said that insurance covered the structure but did not cover the contents of the house. Besides the house, a smaller out-building was also destroyed by the flames.

Neighbors to the Shannons are under the impression that lightning struck the home and started the blaze but members of the Shannon family were unable to verify this.

PATRIOTISM SUBJECT OF TALK BY OXNAM

PRESIDENT OF DEPAUW AD-DRESSES INDIANAPOLIS RO-
TARY CLUB TUESDAY

IS HOLIEST OF EMOTIONS

Stresses Three Points In Splendid Address On "The New Patriotism"

Dr. G. Bromley Oxnam, president of DePauw University, addressed the Indianapolis Rotary Club at its regular meeting Tuesday. The subject of his splendid talk was "The New Patriotism." Excerpts from the address follow:

"Patriotism is one of the holiest of emotions. It ranks immediately with the love of a man for a woman, the love of a man for his children, and the love of a man for his God. But, like those emotions, patriotism must be ruled by ethical ideals. Unless a man's love for a woman is governed by the ethical principle of respect for her personality, love may descend to lust. Unless a man's love for his children is ruled by a reasonable respect for the rights of other children, his love reaches the depths of selfishness. Unless a man's love for God is controlled by tolerance, his religion is likely to become a matter of inhibition or taboo.

Too often individuals unacquainted with the ethical ideals express their love for country in statements that are fundamentally immoral. For myself I prefer the attitude of John Quincy Adams to that of Admiral Decatur. The latter proposed his toast, "Our Country, right or wrong!" John Quincy Adams, commenting on that toast, said, "I disclaim all patriotism incompatible with the principles of eternal justice." A beautiful building was erected recently upon an American campus bearing the inscription "It is lawful for me to do what I will with mine own." As a matter of fact, anyone who thinks knows that is not true. It is not lawful for me to do what I please with my automobile. I cannot build the kind of house I please on my own property, but must have due regard for zoning ordinances. I must obey the rules of government as far as health is concerned. In other words, the social good determines what I may do with my own.

Many so-called patriots say, 'It is lawful for my nation to do what it will.' As a matter of fact, a world conscience is developing, which demands that each nation regulate its activities in the interests of the world. The opposition to patriotism that seeks world stabilization comes from certain military extranists who have failed to bring their love of country under those ideals which make for world security. Secretary Simpson is quite right when he says in reference to the Naval Treaty, 'The critics are naval officers—fighting men. They are handicapped by a kind of training which tends to make men think of war as the only possible defense against war. It is not their function to consider the preventive measures of international relations, which are intended to make war less likely. They do not weigh the factor of international good will or rightly evaluate machinery which will prevent war by substituting other remedies for the settlement of disputes between nations. They are thus likely to be blinded to one-half of the horizon, a very important half.' He goes on to point out, 'From the very foundation of their government, the American people have placed the decision of these matters in the hands, not of their admirals and generals, but in the hands of their civilian representatives.' He continues, 'Never was the narrowness and intolerance of militarism exhibited in a more striking light. Never was the wise foresight of our forefathers, which placed the decision of such matters in different hands, more clearly vindicated.'

"The first point, therefore, I desire to make is that the American love of country, like other great and fundamental emotions, must be ruled by the highest of ethical idealism. When our characteristics are so ruled, America goes forward to a place of leadership in the cooperation with other lands that shall make a better world. The American has been a pioneer from those early days when he first touched the Atlantic seaboard to the present when from the Pacific he looks back upon a conquered nation. The Covered Wagon days when he insisted upon the rights of man, through the hour when Lincoln spoke in remembrance of white men who had died to free black men, to the moment when the youth of the nation was summoned to make the world safe for democracy. He has been a lover of liberty, a believer in union, or, in other words, putting the common good first. He has been an individualist and has revealed amazing inventive genius. He is the proud possessor of a rich religious heritage. In this hour people of such characteristics must face the facts in the same pioneering spirit essential to the solution of the problems. Edison was quite right when he commented upon the discovery of a new planet, saying 'That's wonderful. There is hope for civilization as long as man probes into the unknown in his experimenting.'

"Secondly, the new patriotism demands that the lover of country accept the scientific method which has made progress possible in other fields and, upon the method of facing the facts as they are, seek to make those changes which will make life richer for all. The scientific method must permeate patriotism. There must be developed a world mind, the fact that we live in a new world. There must be developed a world heart, and some form of world organization, wherein a world will manifest itself. Owen Young is quite right when he insists that men who in public or private assassinate America's good will are removing the basis upon which our prosperity must rest, and are certainly unpatriotic.

"We, therefore, face a new patriotism. First of all it must be grounded in those great ethical concepts that have won the assent of mankind; secondly, it must be permeated by the scientific method; and, thirdly, it must recognize the fact that we live in a new world."

CONCERTS ARE DISCONTINUED BY LOCAL BAND

INSUFFICIENT FUNDS GIVEN AS REASON FOR GIVING UP
WEEKLY PROGRAMS

There will be no band concert by the Greencastle Band Thursday evening, officials of the local band announced Tuesday. Insufficient funds was given as the reason for discontinuing the weekly programs.

According to Paul Wright, treasurer of the band, local merchants who in the past have financed the concerts have quit their weekly contributions. Because of lack of funds to pay the players and other expenses incident to maintenance of the local band, it was decided to discontinue the programs.

It was said Tuesday that no further appeals would be made to merchants for funds. Unless merchants take it upon themselves to raise sufficient funds for the program Thursday night it seemed almost certain that the concert would not be given this week.

Mr. Wright announced that the local band would play at the Moonlit Golf course Tuesday night.

Heat Wave Monday Worst For Years

ENTIRE COUNTRY WAS HOT ON MONDAY, BUT COOL WINDS
PREVAILED TODAY.

The highest temperatures ever recorded in many places in Indiana as well as throughout the country, were hung up on Monday when the heat wave for this section reached its height.

The mercury soared to the 100 degree mark in Greencastle about noon and remained there until late in the day and many places down town, the heat in business houses reached 100 degrees during the mid-afternoon.

There was no telling how hot it was in the sun, because most thermometers only registered 120 degrees and the mercury was forced out of the top of these within five minutes after they were placed at the mercy of the rays of the sun.

Other towns in Indiana suffered worse from the heat than did Greencastle, and temperature readings well above the century mark were common. Washington held the record with 113 degrees. Other points showing more than 100 were Madison, 110; Princeton, 110; Columbus, 110; Bedford, 110; Bloomington, 109; Jeffersonville, 108; Evansville 107; Martinsville, 107; New Albany, 105; Crawfordsville, 105; Rushville, 103; and Shelbyville, 103.

According to weather bureau records from over the central west, Indiana was about the hottest spot in the country on Monday. At no place was higher temperatures recorded than in the above Indiana cities, although many places showed more than 100.

BIG BRITISH DIRIGIBLE ON QUEBEC TRIP

FIELD EARLY TUESDAY DUE
OVER N. AMERICA THURS.

BIG CROWD ON BOARD

Ship Is Well Equipped With Wireless
In Order To Keep In Touch With The Whole World.

CARINGTON, England, July 29.—The first experiment with aerial communication between the scattered parts of British Empire began today when the British Dirigible R-100 departed from Cardington for Montreal, Canada.

Forty-four persons, including seven passengers, were aboard the big airship when it rose from the Cardington Airdrome at 3:45 a. m. today, and soared away toward Ireland, Greenland and Labrador to the tall new mast that awaits it at St. Hubert, Quebec.

The first grey mist of the day was appearing in the east as squadron leader R. S. Booth, commander, ordered the towing lines cast off and the ship lifted 400 feet into the air.

Most of the 200 well-wishers at the airport were relatives of those on board, or newspapermen. There was no great ado about the new venture in aerial transportation, and everything was carried out in accordance with the theory of the British aviation experts that it was "just another flight."

Lieut. Cmdr. Sir C. Deniston Burney, the ships' designer, and Major G. H. Scott, Britain's foremost aviation expert, who commanded the R-34 on its 1919 roundtrip flight to the United States, took the adventure matter-of-factly.

Weather reports received only a few minutes before the ship cast off were more favorable than expected, and led to the announcement that it would follow the most northerly route, taking it north of Ireland, south of Cape Farewell, Greenland, across Labrador, and along the St. Lawrence river to St. Hubert. The route is approximately 3,385 miles.

Major Scott said the dirigible should reach St. Hubert in between 60 and 70 hours, which would make it arrive there between 9:45 a. m. and 7:45 p. m. E. S. T., Thursday.

The ship was provisioned for five days, including three days of ordinary rations, and a day's reserve rations, and a day's emergency rations.

A long wave wireless set for transmission of messages and a short wave set for reception were part of the R-100's equipment. The ship's call signals are G-FAAV.

Although the R-100 has a larger hydrogen capacity than the Graf Zeppelin, it is only 709 feet long, compared with 776 feet for the German dirigible.

The R-100 completed in 1929, attained a speed of 81.5 miles an hour during tests, but it probably will be held to 70 miles an hour during the cruise.

BELLE UNION CARS CRASH

Two Belle Union automobiles were wrecked and several persons escaped with minor injuries in a head-on collision of the cars at the Brick Chapel church, near Belle Union, on Sunday evening about 7 o'clock.

In one car was Russell Coleman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Coleman, of east of Belle Union, and Howard McCammack, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence McCammack, of south of Belle Union. In the other car was Mr. and Mrs. Pete Cox, of east of Belle Union.

Coleman and McCammack were going down a hill north of the church while Cox and his wife were going west on the Eminence road. The cars crashed at the intersection of the roads.

The car occupied by the two boys turned over three times and both occupants suffered bruises and cuts, but fortunately received no serious injuries. Mr. and Mrs. Cox were uninjured.

WORK ON AIRPORT

Kersey Brothers who have the contract for the grading of the airport south-east of this city, started working Tuesday morning. The work will probably require several weeks time before it is finished, and it will be months before the lanes are well seeded unless there is an unusually heavy rainfall during the next few months.

Mrs. Truman G. Yunker, Northwood, will leave this week for Lansing, Mich., where she will spend a month. Prof. Yunker will attend an international conference in England this summer.

COMICAL PLOT KINK IN

"LOOSE ANKLES PICTURE"
Loretta Young and Douglass Fairbanks, Jr., featured in All-Star Cast

A novel and very comical plot kink in "Loose Ankles," which opens its two days engagement tonight at the Vancaster theatre, embraces the efforts of the heroine to get a man to "compromise" her.

She is willing to pay $5,000 for her favor.

But the man must be willing to have a brief companionate marriage with her so that she may inherit a fortune. After that, he's free. So is she.

Was this an old maid trying to find a mate? Far from it! In "Loose Ankles," a first National version of Sam Janney's stage comedy hit, she is young and pretty. Loretta Young plays the role. Enough said!

Douglass Fairbanks, Jr., who is featured with her, Eddie Nugent, Raymond Keane and Norman Selby are a few of the young men who think the proposition worth while and do their best to help the lady. Fairbanks, of course, wins in the end.

A remarkable all-star comedy cast figures in "Loose Ankles." In addition to those already named, Louise Fazenda and Ethel Wales comedy aunts, Otis Harlan, Inez Courtney and other notable fun makers take part. Miss Courtney is a newcomer to the screen, but her fine work in "Loose Ankles" resulted in a contract for her with First National, to play a leading role in the film version of her New York musical comedy hit, "Spring Is Here."

Added short subjects to this bill will be the famous "Overture of 1812" in sound and the February "Horseshoe."

Deck Sport Comes Inland To Homes Walks And Drives

SHUFFLEBOARD NOW PLAYED EASILY FAR FROM ROLLING DECKS OF OCEAN LINERS

For many years travelers have come home with reports of a fascinating game they played aboard ship. Shuffleboard, they said, was good sport. And their neighbors looked forward to their own travels, so that they too might have a chance at shuffleboard.

A few years ago shuffleboard was brought ashore. Special concrete courts were built in vacation centers where they became immediately popular—more popular in some places than any other outdoor sport.

And now shuffleboard has reached its greatest popularity on home courts—courts laid out on concrete driveways, on walks and on courts especially built in back or side yards. In area, a shuffleboard court should be at least fifty feet long and six feet wide. Its surface should be smooth and, if possible, free from joints so that there will be nothing to obstruct the sliding of wooden discs with which the game is played.

While it is possible to mark out a shuffleboard court on existing drives and walks, a better game can be played if the court is built as an integral part of a new walk or drive, with the court section left without grooves and joints. This can be easily done, for the thickness of a concrete shuffleboard court—six inches—corresponds to the thickness of the average private drive. With the central panel of the drive, six feet wide, designed for shuffleboard, a foot and a half more on either side will provide width for a one-car drive.

Once installed, a concrete shuffleboard court is constantly in readiness for play. A single set of four cues and eight wooden discs (four red and four black) can be relied on for service and enjoyment for many seasons. The rules of the game are simple, but the skill involved can be very great. It attracts out-of-doors people of every age and is neither too strenuous nor too slow for prolonged playing.

While shuffleboard has been commercialized with success it is essentially a game for friendly rivals, playing at leisure, at home. The court is not expensive in construction, particularly when it serves a dual purpose as a walk or drive.

Shuffleboard rules and a description of the construction of a court may be had without charge on application.
